Job of the Week

King's Counsel

King's Counsel (KC) are barristers or solicitor advocates who have been recognised for excellence in advocacy. They're often seen as leaders in their area of law and generally take on more complex cases that require a higher level of legal expertise. It's a common misconception that KC status is only open to barristers. However, solicitors have been eligible to become KCs since 1995.

There are a variety of routes into Law, click on the Job of the Week logo to see a Beginner's Guide.
