APPRENTICESHIP

SCHEME OF THE WEEK

Lidl offers a range of Apprenticeships but their Retail Leader Apprenticeship leads to a degree in Retail Leadership. Salaries start from £24,000 and the scheme can lead to students running their own store within 4 years. Opportunities, for pupils who can demonstrate initiative and determination, are available across the UK.

The different UK Medical Schools all have their own criteria when selecting students. It's important pupils know what these are so that they can make informed choices if they are considering applying for medical school. All of the information pupils need can be found on the Medical Schools Council website.

The Medical Schools Council is the representative body for UK medical schools.

Careerometer is a useful tool which enables you to compare working hours and average wages of job roles in the UK. If you have an idea of a role or an industry you are interested you can discover the average salary, level of demand and the working hours and compare that to another job or the UK average.

Up to 30% of engineers are thought to be dyslexic and it is also common in other professions such as architecture which require creative problem solving skills. In this video engineer Shaun talks about how inventive thinking dyslexic and neurodivergent engineers can help solve global challenges.

'GET IN' TASTER DAYS

The BBC's 'GET IN' Taster Days will give you a taste of what working at your local BBC base is really like. The BBC are currently inviting pupils over 16 to apply for these days which will be held throughout the UK.

Occupational Therapist

Helping children to gain the confidence they need to get on in life. Supporting individuals to get back on their feet. Empowering older people to be more independent. Occupational therapy is all of this – and more.

OTs use creativity and problem-solving skills to support people who find some areas of life difficult.
