ON Spotlight

Lieutenant Colonel Ben Parkyn left Adams in 1998 and took a circuitous route into the Armed Forces where he is currently the Commanding Officer of the Royal Scots Dragoon Guards. He has recently been taking part in the large scale NATO exercise in Romania designed to test the alliance's ability to deploy its forces quickly and effectively on its eastern flank.

Event Management

Event managers organise and run conferences, exhibitions, promotions and business and social events.

To be successful an Event Manager will require fantastic communication skills as well as having excellent attention to detail and enjoy working under pressure and to a deadline.

There are a wide range of opportunities in event management including the option to work abroad or to focus on a particular area of interest such as sports or music events.

If you have feedback about the careers programme at Adams please contact me.
